GREEN CRESCENT'S MISSION

Turkish Green Crescent Society is a nongovernmental organization that, on the premise of human honor and respect, endeavors to protect society and youth from harmful habits without discrimination. Guided by national and moral values, and using scientific methods, the Green Crescent struggles against tobacco, alcohol, drug, technology, gambling and other addictions by engaging in preventive and rehabilitative public health, and advocacy work.

GREEN CRESCENT'S VISION

The Green Crescent carries its mission overseas and makes Turkey a model and leader country in struggling against addiction as it celebrates its centennial in 2020.

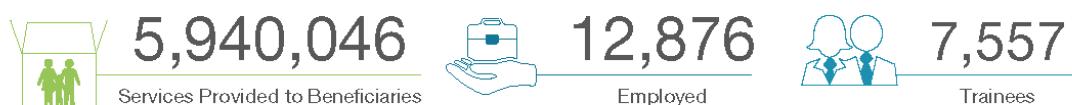

GREEN CRESCENT'S OBJECTIVE

In an atmosphere of moral and cultural development in the country, the Society was founded to combat addictions such as tobacco, alcohol and drug dependences that devastate physical and mental health of the youth and the public in general, to fight against all bad habits like gambling and internet and technology addiction that cause harm to the youth and the society, as well as to raise generations that are loyal to their national culture.

In that framework, the Society mobilizes public awareness, power and resources to fight addictions, helps people in need under any circumstances, anywhere and anytime for preserving human dignity and respectability, and makes unceasing contribution to improvement of capacity to fight addictions. To that end, it also organizes joint events and establishes cooperation with national and international public and private institutions and non-governmental organizations.

- SYRIAN FORUM:

The Syrian Forum's mission focuses on building people's cultural, political, economical, and social capacities, broadening their horizons, thereby achieving an active and capable community.

We strive to achieve sustainable development through an approach based on capacity building and enablement rather than solely providing food aid. Our programs are thus diverse and address current problems that people face and, at the same time, try to find sustainable solutions for the future, thereby safeguarding and strengthening the trust between Syrians and their institutions.

Despite the challenges that our civil society institutions face, which are spearheading the process of building a society on a foundation of justice and personal abilities, we were successful in overcoming most of them as we put our faith into the creativity and problem-solving skills of the Syrian people to expand their influence.
